

SPOTLIGHT ON... DYSLEXIA AWARENESS

Read the book 'Tom's Special Talent', a lovely story about how everybody is unique.

Over Dyslexia Awareness Week 2023, the teachers have been creating resources and exploring effective approaches to supporting children with neurodiversity and dyslexia...

...whilst the children have been learning about how we all have unique brains, just as we have unique fingerprints

FIND OUT MORE: SOME HELPFUL GUIDANCE FOR PARENTS

Free Guide:

<https://www.bdadyslexia.org.uk/a-dvice/children/sign-up-for-your-free-guide-for-parents-download>

On demand Webinar:

<https://www.patoss-dyslexia.org/free-webinars/ondemand-dyslexia-a-very-short-introduction/13971?OcclD=19297>

DO YOU UNDERSTAND WORKING MEMORY CHALLENGES IN THE CLASSROOM?

We have been learning how to maximise the brain benefits of movement by 'crossing the midline' to fire up neural pathways between the two brain hemispheres. Strengthening these pathways can make it easier to recall previously learned material, help develop critical thinking, sensory integration, body awareness.